NUMBER FORTY-TWO

Guy Haney Killed In Action In Holland

Pfc. Manning Guy Haney, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Haney, was killed in action on October 9 in Holland.

Pfc. Haney, who has been overseas for the past 18 months, was the youngest paratrooper in the outfit. He volunteered for service soon after Pearl Harbor three years ago, and participated in three major invasions. He was in the initial wave that landed in Normandy on D-Day, and was also in the Southern Invasion and the invasion of Holland. For his bravery he had been decorated many times. He held the Oak Leaf Cluster, the Presidential Unit Citation and the Expert Combat Infantry's Medal and others. He received his basic training at Camp Toccoa, Ga., and later received his wings at Fort Benning, Ga.

Pfc. Haney attended the Fulton high school for three years. He is survived by his parents; one brother, Olie Haney and a sister, Louise Morey, all of Fulton.

ROBERT J. LAMB,
Post Chaplain

Kings Point, N. Y.—Cadet Midshipman Isham Weldon Conner, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isham S. Conner, of Fulton, has just been graduated from the U. S. Merchant Marine Academy here. He received a license as a third assistant engineering officer in the Merchant Marine, a commission as Ensign in the U. S. Naval Reserve and the rank of Ensign in the U. S. Maritime Service.

A high school graduate, Conner was appointed to the U. S. Merchant Marine Corps about 13 months ago. He received three months of preliminary training at the Academy, following which he spent seven and one-half months as an engine cadet midshipman aboard a merchant ship carrying vital war supplies to the far-flung battlefronts. He reported to Kings Point for advanced courses nine months ago.

During his sea training Conner's ship was attacked by enemy submarines and airplanes.

Misses Adolphus Latta and Ouida Vaden, employees of the Southern Bell Telephone, left Sunday for Miami, Fla., where they are temporarily employed.

Fertilizer will keep. Order next year's supply now and accept delivery whenever you can get it.

Returns In National Election, 1924-1929

Popular votes for Presidential candidates:
1924	49,815,312
1928	45,647,789
1932	39,765,589
1936	39,806,783
1924	29,022,261

Roosevelt won the election over Wilkie in 1940 by a popular vote of a little more than five million majority. Only until we hear the 1944 election returns can we know the total popular vote this year. But the 1940 mark is a high one to top, even though it was only 62.4 per cent of the entire population 21 years of age.

HORNBEAK AND HOLLAND OPEN FIRESTONE STORE

Alf Hornbeak and W. L. Holland, well known Fulton men, will open their new Firestone Store on Lake-st Saturday. For weeks work on remodeling and redecorating the building adjoining DeMyer Drug Store has been underway and merchandise arriving. Now this big home and auto supply store opens to the public.

In this issue of THE NEWS official announcement is made of the opening, and special values offered.

W. W. Cole, Field Supervisor, is here assisting with the opening.

HAT AT EXPRESS OFFICE SEES COUNTRY

Attention was called to a real campaign hat at the Express Office here this week, which was a curiosity. This hat has traveled from Maine to the Pacific Coast, down through the South and the Midwest, and was enroute to Louisville.

LODGESTON P. T. A. SPONSORS PROGRAM

The Lodgeston P. T. A. is sponsoring a program at the school Friday night, beginning at 8 o'clock. Jimmie Ritter, the radio star, will provide the entertainment, and hamburgers, pies and cold drinks will be served for refreshments.

VICTORY HOMEMAKERS MEET WITH MRS. ROY D. TAYLOR

Victory Homemakers notice the change in the place and date of your meeting. The club meets with Mrs. Roy D. Taylor on Tuesday, Nov. 7 at 10:30.

Mrs. Fisher and Mrs. Demond will be with us to give a demonstration on home care of the sick. With the scarcity of doctors and those we do have so much overworked this is a very timely lesson. Please come and do be on time as we have quite a full day planned.

CAPTAIN KHOURIE NEPHEW OF FULTON LADY KILLED IN ACTION

Captain Jack Khourie of Columbus, Ohio, a B-17 pilot, was killed in action on a bombing raid over Germany recently. Captain Khourie was a nephew of Mrs. Alex Khourie of this city and also a friend of Lt. Dane Lovelace of this city, who was killed in action over Germany several months ago. They were in training together before they received their wings at Mercede, Calif., and other points.

MRS. WHITESSELL HOSTESS TO DINNER

Mrs. Hunter Whitesell was hostess to a stag dinner Friday night of last week honoring her son, Robert, who is home from Berea College on leave from the U. S. Navy. The following guests were present:

Don Sensing, who is here from Bowling Green State University at Bowling Green Ohio; Tolbert Dallas of Emory and Henry College, Emory, Va., and Bobby Parham, of Berea College. All the boys are in the V-12 program of U. S. Navy.

Farm Bureau Conducts Membership Drive

H. J. French, president of the Fulton County Farm Bureau, stated today that last Saturday, October 28, which was declared Farm Bureau Day in Fulton County, in which an appeal was made by all members to renew their membership was a grand success, inasmuch as 50 per cent of our quota was reached on that day. The total was 353, and the respective communities stood as follows:

Fulton-Palestine 97 — 72 per cent of last year's membership.

Crutchfield 27 — 50 per cent of last year's membership.

Cayce 51 — 42 per cent of last year's membership.

Sylvan Shade 35 — 51 per cent of last year's membership.

Hickman-Brownsville 72 — 53 per cent of last year's membership.

Western 65 — 41 per cent of last year's membership.

Colored 6 — 11 per cent of last year's membership.

Mr. French said, "This fine co-operative spirit these members demonstrated is an inspiration for me to want to wave our banner of achievement higher and higher." He further stated that had that day not been in such a busy time many others would have renewed, but they are coming in when it is convenient to do so as each day rolls by. "Such spirit as that," said Mr. French, "is a symbol of success." He also stated he would like to take this means of thanking the various committees who assisted so graciously in making that day the success it was.

Something TO THINK ABOUT

Our National Debt in 1916 was $1,225,145,568.

Today it is nearly $300,000,000,000.

More federal spending under Roosevelt than by all other presidents put together.

Annual interest alone on present national debt is $4 billions, and will reach $6 billions before end of war.

Today each man, woman and child owes $1,900 of national debt. It was only $11.69 in 1916 for each person. Each family's share today is $10,000.

Where, how and when will this extravagance end, and what will be the result to our country, and ourselves?

MEN IN SERVICE

Big Vote Expected In General Election Tuesday, November 7

Next Tuesday, November 7, the voters of the country will go to the polls to elect national officers to direct the affairs of the Nation at Washington. In the Presidential race, Franklin D. Roosevelt is seeking his fourth term on the Democratic ticket, while Thomas E. Dewey, governor of New York, has made a whirlwind campaign under the Republican banner.

John W. Bricker, governor of Ohio, is Dewey's running mate for vice president, while Harry S. Truman of Missouri is the Democratic vice-presidential nominee.

It has been many years since a presidential election has aroused as much interest as the race this year, and according to most polls and surveys the public vote seems to be about equally divided. The main campaign issues are based upon the administration of domestic, economic and foreign affairs; the fourth term and perpetuating one man in office in discord with the U. S. Constitution; bureaucracy and free enterprise; limitation on federal spending, indebtedness and taxation as practiced in recent years; and the Sidney Hillman-C. I. O. Communistic, Political Action Committee, backing Roosevelt.

Alben W. Barkley, Democrat, incumbent, is seeking re-election as U. S. Senator. He is opposed by James Park, Republican.

Noble J. Gregory, Democrat, incumbent, is seeking re-election as Representative to Congress. He is opposed by A. R. Anderson, Republican.

City School Board
W. Walter Evans and Maxwell F. McDade are up for reelection on the Fulton city school board. They are unopposed.

County School Board
Three men are being re-elected to the Fulton County School Board. All are unopposed. They are T. E. Williamson, First Division; R. E. Brasfield, Third Division; and J. J. Wells, Fifth Division.

VOTING AS A WAR-TIME CIVIC DUTY

In tribute to the men and women in uniform—as they fight for their Country in the Armed Forces U. S. A.

It is an axiom of law, that every Right has its correlative Duty. Both the U. S. Constitution and the Constitutions of most of the 48 states declare voting—not merely a "privilege"—but a Right, and hence a Civic Duty.

Is the duty of an American to his country less as a voter than as a fighter? If that were true this Republic would be in danger for lack of patriotic intelligence.

Every patriotic American is naturally glad to show our fighters under arms that the men and women on the home front can do their duty as conscientiously and efficiently as the men and women on the war fronts. Whether fighters or voters, true Americans will not fail in their duty to their country.

So, on election day, patriotic American men and women will go to the polls and vote. Only by the expression of individual choice, whatever it may be, can the government be truly representative of the people. Our armed forces are fighting for the right to have a government which is truly representative.

The least you can do for them is to keep alive, by voting, the right our men under colors are giving their all to preserve.

Go to the polls and preserve the liberties and freedoms—our American way of life—which all Americans love so well that they give up their lives to preserve them.

LOOKING AHEAD WITH AGRICULTURE IN THIS SECTION

Kentucky and Tennessee are and probably will continue to be predominantly agricultural. With their many fertile plateau and valley sections for crop production, and their thousands of acres of rolling hill land especially adapted to grazing and forestry, the economy of these two states is interlocked with their agricultural development.

This being true, the general prosperity of all Kentuckians and Tennesseans will be entwined with the prosperity of the farmers. By and large, no other group can obtain or maintain a prosperous position unless the farmers are likewise prosperous.

All economists say that wealth is and always will be one of the basic industries. There are those who believe that it was the loss of purchasing power by farmers that dragged this nation into its most recent depression. All of which are additional reasons to substantiate the fact that the prosperity of agriculture will largely determine the prosperity of all other groups.

It is for these reasons that every group must be interested in keeping farmers on a prosperous basis. Every opportunity should be taken to learn what the farmers' problems are, to understand his position and his condition, and to lend every effort to seeking the best possible solution in the interest of all concerned.

Our two states—Kentucky and Tennessee—will prosper as does the farmers.

FARMERS VS. SIDNEY HILLMAN

Farmers had better become alarmed over the part that Sidney Hillman and his C. I. O. labor gang are taking in the Presidential race this year. Hillman, who is a foreigner born in Russia, is the head of the C. I. O. Union which has among its top leaders the lowest element of Communists, foreigners, and labor racketeers who advocate policies and doctrines dangerous to our form of government.

Hillman has voted that he is going to raise the sum of six million dollars to spend to re-elect Roosevelt this year. He is to get his fund by assessing C. I. O. Union members. You will remember that most of the strikes that have delayed the war effort have been strikes by the C. I. O., and Roosevelt has made no honest effort to stop them, in fact he has coddled, cajoled and encouraged them along. The farmer never has struck despite the fact that he has got the little end of everything in prices on his farm during the war. The C. I. O. bunch have never been satisfied with their high war-time wages and have continually harped for higher wages, but at the same time they have made an organization fight to hold down the prices on everything the farmer has to sell on the grounds that any price increase in the farmer's produce would increase the C. I. O. members cost of living. The C. I. O. is an enemy of the farmer and is spending lots of money and using its influence to beat every Congressman who has been friendly or helpful toward the farmer.

Every farmer had better dread the influence of Sidney Hillman. Hillman already has great influence with Roosevelt as shown by the fact that he practically bossed the Democratic Convention this year to the extent that the Vice President's nomination, and every important matter before the Convention, had to be cleared through Sidney Hillman, and because of his influence with Roosevelt and his 6 million dollar slush fund.

Hillman has taken the Campaign away from the party leaders and is out front running Roosevelt's campaign, lock, stock and barrel. Party leaders and many true Democrats resent this but there is nothing they can do but take it. If Roosevelt is re-elected, Hillman will be in a position to claim the credit and demand everything he wants, and that will certainly be plenty.

Many staunch Democrats see the handwriting on the wall, and fear the results. And because they are for the best interests of their country in these critical times, they will go to the polls and vote against this pressure group which threatens to bring us to the brink of the very chaotic conditions which has overcome the peoples of Europe and Asia.

We must be vigilant, lest we find ourselves like France, asleep at the post, while alien enemies worked to undermine their way of life. Awake, America! Go to the polls and vote.

THE AMERICAN WAY

By George Peck

PRIVATE ENTERPRISE

By GEORGE PECK

Much has been written and said in recent years about Private Enterprise. Its friends and proponents have eulogized it in words of warm and enthusiastic praise, ascribing to it the credit for the unprecedented achievements of this nation during the first century and a half of its history.

The foes of Private Enterprise have vilified it in caustic and scathing language, blaming it for all the nation's ills, and demanding that this system be displaced by one or other of the economies which time and time again have been tried and found wanting.

Despite the fact that since Pearl Harbor, America has electrified the world with its production for war, the planned economists persist in venting their plea against Private Enterprise, the system solely responsible for this miracle of production. It is strange that there are still some among us who are so blind that they cannot see what is so plainly visible.

The common sense of the American people, which at times seems to go into hiding, but which when the chips are down, always manifests itself, will dictate the retention of the Private Enterprise System. That revitalized system, flushed with triumph at having so nobly done the job that the war emergency thrust upon it, is this nation's one hope of full employment and prosperity in the post-war period. We may have to change it a bit here and there, for in spite of its beneficence, it is not perfect. Those changes, however, will be minor, because the fundamentals of Private Enterprise are sound.

Rewards have been offered for the best definition of Free or Private Enterprise. There have been numerous contests in which prizes have been offered for the best essays setting forth just what Private Enterprise is, what makes it "tick" and what it has done for America. The scribes and poets of the nation bent their pens to the task and many beautiful compositions expounding the virtues of Private Enterprise have been written and published.

But the clearest description to come to this writer's attention is a little poem which appeared on the front page of the September issue of the Arkansas Bankers Association.

Beg pardon, did I say little? Well, it may be little as far as length goes, but its bulks large in beauty, rhythm and inspiration. Who is the author of this glorious poem, I am unable to tell you. Apparently, he or she, with becoming modesty, prefers to be unnamed, for inquiry to the Arkansas Bankers Association failed to elicit a reply as to the identity of the poet who has made this magnificent contribution. I cannot tell you the author's name, but I can pass on the poem, and here it is:

Private Enterprise
The power to choose the work we do,

To grow and have the larger view,
To know and feel that we are free,
To stand erect, not bow the knee,
To be no chattel of the State,
To be the master of our fate,
To make our own career begin,
To serve the world in our own way,

To gain in wisdom, day by day,
With hope and zest to climb, to rise;

That is PRIVATE ENTERPRISE.

MASTER OR SERVANT

By Norman Vincent Peale
America holds a unique place in history as the greatest center for the development of human freedom. Among the great principles established here, one was absolutely original. It was the idea that man is not the servant but the master of the state.

This was a new and entirely revolutionary concept. It was unheard of that the individual should be held superior to the state. Throughout all history men had accepted without question the divine right of kings, into whose hands was placed the power of life and death over their subjects. While some sovereigns were benevolent and high-minded and sincerely tried to be helpful to their people to whom they felt obligation, nevertheless, they regarded themselves as lords and masters. The people were their subjects and servants, and were so acknowledged by all men.

This rigid and apparently unmovable political creed began to be infiltrated by a new philosophy. Men had learned the art of printing. The first book printed and for long years the only one, was the Bible. People learned to read by reading the Bible. They became steeped in its ideas. One of the basic concepts of the Bible is that the supreme Lord took upon himself the form of a servant. He showed thereby that true rulership is determined by how much and how well one serves. It was a new and stimulating idea.

The Book also pointed out that even common men were given dominion by God; that they are individually sacred and of much importance; that they are immortal. The idea of equal worth of every individual began to take root. Presently, men started to question the assumption that any other man, however long established his position, had the right to act as master of their lives. Accordingly, they began to translate religious ideas into political principles. They began to hedge the ruler around with restrictions. They compelled his admission of their rights. They forced him to sign bill of rights; rights which they believed were derived from God.

A new principle was emerging which burst into full flower when these men crossed the seas to a new land—America. Having the opportunity to create a new state in which no hereditary authority prevailed, save by the most remote control, they erected a governmental structure on the principle that the people are the rulers. These rulers periodically and according to a prescribed Constitution, were to select one of themselves to be their chief servant (or President in this case). In the years that followed, such executives took pride in their derivation from the people of the honor and privilege of serving them. In fact, the more humble their origins, the more appropriate their careers were to be. One of the most basic of political ideas had been changed. Governmental authority had been transferred from a sovereign individual to a sovereign people.

But time passed, As weeds grew up in a garden, unless carefully tended, the old, discarded philosophy is returning. Once again the big state starts to rise. The theory is mulgated by so-called "liberals" that individual incentive and enterprise an indpendence are crimes against the social order. These things are sneered at as reactionary and belonging to the horse and buggy era. Self-reliance, the right of man to be something, the fine thing we have always considered American, they would cast out. Men are to be conditioned to the super state which will regulate and control their lives.

These "liberals" would have us complete the circle; go back to where we started and once again be not masters but servants of the state.

Is this liberalism? Is this progress? How can we make progress by going backwards? The true name for this is REACTION—it is not liberalism. Indeed it is the most vicious form of reactionary technique. Behind a smoke-screen of liberal and social welfare jargon, there lurks the enslavement of free men.

Our fathers broke their chains. Are we going to let these mis-called "liberals" hypnotize us into reforging those chains on ourselves.

What do people mean when they talk about unhappiness? It is not so much unhappiness as impatience that from time to time possess men and then they choose to call themselves miserable.—Goethe.

FULTON ROUTE 3

Corn gathering is an every day topic these days, and Little Jimmie Jones may not do a man's job but he can drive the horses for his Dad while he works.

Mrs. W. E. Flippo, wife of our Rural Carrier, who sustained a broken rib two weeks ago is improving nicely.

Mrs. R. B. Wright and children of South Fulton were the week end guests of Bubber Foster and family of Chestnut Glade vicinity.

Mrs. Palace Bennett, who resides near Water Valley and who has been ill for some time, is reported some better.

Mac Lee and Jimmie Starks visited Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Foster Sunday afternoon.

Some of Us Still Think of Them as Kids

Last week Ben Ryder showed me a snapshot of his son, Jim, on some Pacific island.

Stripped to the waist, sun-tanned and strong as an ox, Jim and another flyer were relaxing with a glass of beer just after returning from one of their most successful bombing expeditions of the war.

"Morale-builder after surprise visit to the Nips," Jim had written briefly on the photo.

"Ben," I said reminiscently, "it seems only yesterday that Jim was a shy young stripling of grade-school age."

"Seems only today before that I was courtin' his mother over Pigeon Hill way," Ben chuckled.

"Yes," I said, "and from where I sit, it seems about time that we oldsters acknowledged the fall and complete rights of the men who have kept our country free—whether it's their right to enjoy a moderate glass of beer or to vote the ticket they want to."

Monkey Business

By HELEN THOMPSON
McClure Syndicate—WNU Features.

WHAT d'you suppose those guys are up to now?" groaned Bill Simpson, Williams' Wonder Circus's advance agent, as he watched the gang from Dr. Lyle's Miraculous Medicine Show pulling up to our lot.

The first man off Lyle's lead wagon was none other than Dr. Lyle himself. "Well, well, well," he belowed, striding across the lot fanning himself with his broadbrimmed Stetson. "If it isn't Williams' Wonder Circus, famous in show history as the outfit that manages to get along season after season without any customers!"

"Sorry I'll have to run out on you, Doc," growled the boss, "but we're just getting ready to start our afternoon parade."

"I know," Doc announced. "And I'm going to follow with my new band. They've got a lot in common with your fellows so I want them to see your people work." Then he looked over at his wagons. "Send the new squad out here!" he bawled.

Eight little monkeys in red suits with gold braids, almost exactly like the uniforms of our band, came scampering across the lot. Each one was carrying a miniature cornet or trombone. And when they started to play, the racket was ear-splitting.

Well, we never had a worse parade in all our history. Doc and his monkeys tore ahead and waited for us on every corner. They sure wrecked our music. And, worst of all, the crowd didn't look twice at our procession. They were only interested in Doc and the monkeys.

"How did Doc ever train those apes, Jim?" Bill was watching Doc's band go through its paces.

"It's easy," said Jim. "Each one of those mouthpieces is pushed out a little bit. Inside there's a thin reed that'll sound on the slightest suction."

"How did Doc ever train those apes?"

And right behind that there's a place where you put a piece of hard candy. So, when the monkey sucks the candy he sucks the reed too, and you get this racket."

Just then Doc came alongside the calliope. "Nice of you guys to work for my show, especially when you're not getting paid for it," he gibed. "Do you think we'd work for an outfit that stooped to put on fake acts like that monkey band?" Bill drawled. "They don't make any noise with those horns. They've got whistles in their mouths or something."

"I'll stake my reputation as a showman on the fact that those brasses are genuine miniature instruments!" Doc raged.

"Can I come over to your lot and examine them?" Bill asked.

"Absolutely!" Doc belowed. "What's the matter with you?" Jim said after Doc had gone. "Didn't you hear me tell you those horns are the real thing?"

Bill looked at his watch and straightened his tie. "I got an idea," he said with a wink. "Meet me at Doc's show tonight."

At eight o'clock Doc started his spiel about his Rare Simian Stunted Apes.

Then the curtains parted with a flourish and there stood the eight monkeys, each with his instrument up to his mouth and his tail curled around his feet. The audience applauded wildly. At a signal from Doc, the animals let go. But instead of the usual gala blast there was a series of little squeaks.

The monkeys were amazed. First they shook their instruments and tried to take them apart. Then they looked at one another. Finally, they all threw the horns on the floor and sat down with their heads in their hands. And no amount of cajoling by Doc could make them try again.

In a minute those cries which are a showman's nightmare began coming from the bleachers. "Fake!" "Gimme my money back!"

"What'd you do?" Jim demanded as soon as they were out of the tent.

Bill offered Jim the contents of a small paper bag.

"No, thanks," Jim said. "And stop holding out on me. Give me the low-down."

"So you don't like these things either," Bill said. "Well, I do, because from now on I can say that I made a monkey out of Doc by replacing eight little pieces of striped peppermint candy with eight little slices of very sour pickle."

Bennett Homemakers

Bennett Homemakers Club will meet with Mrs. Smith Brown Nov. 9. A profitable, entertaining day is expected since this is an all-day affair crowded with planning of a Christmas meeting, besides the Health Lesson to be given by Mrs. Fisher and Mrs. Caverder. They will give a demonstration on giving a bath in bed and changing linens with the patient in bed. Who is there who does not need this lesson?

The club earned a nice sum at the Burton sale on Oct. 27.

Again Bennett 4-H Club shines with two District champions selected October 19 in Paducah. These winners will compete by their records in the state contest.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Mary and I were just saying, Judge, how lucky we are here in America that we have so many natural resources to help win the war."

"That's right, Jim. When war broke out we had oil, we had steel, we had food, lumber, aluminum...practically everything we needed. There's one thing we didn't have...rubber. The enemy had that."

"But that didn't bother us for long. Soon American brains and industry had synthetic rubber by the tons rolling out of plants. That filled a critical need...you can't win a war without rubber."

"I was very much interested the other day in reading a statement made by a high government official on synthetic rubber. In it he said 'It is fair to regard the rubber manufactured to date as being almost solely the product of the beverage distilling industry.'"

"He also said that, in his estimation, the tremendous contribution of distillers' industrial alcohol to the synthetic rubber program had not received the recognition which it deserves."

"We certainly learned something today, didn't we Mary?"

Her zest for feminine news angles keeps the Woman's Page sparkling!

... Editor of The Courier-Journal's Woman's

Page which blossoms into a full section on Sundays, knows the truth of this old adage about women's work. Her hand rocks the cradle of women's world of activities and provides a well balanced menu of fair-sex-fare dished up daily for a vast and hungry audience (not all of whom are women, according to our tabulated reading reports.)

A gentle Hoosier, hailing from Hanover College, Madison, Jean served as Corydon correspondent of The Courier-Journal and Times before crossing the river to join the Woman's Page staff in 1936. When our former Woman's Page editor followed her man-of-war to officer's quarters last year, Jean was given full command where her calm disposition has proved a foil for mercurial staff temperaments.

In common with all editors, you rarely see Miss Kirkham's name in print, but her genius guides all phases of our Women's Department covering assigned writers of society, fashion and food features, club reports, special articles and Dot Tellitall. Last minute make-up, though arduous in split-second timing, insures readers of hot-off-the-wire releases. The breezy magazine presentation of the Woman's Page is testimony to the congenial collaboration between Jean and the Art Department.

VETERAN BOMBER OF FULTON COMPLETES 87 AIR MISSIONS

An Eighth Air Force Bomber Station, England.—A veteran of 87 bombing missions against the Japanese during 18 months service in the South Pacific, Technical Sergeant John W. Gungl, 25-year-old B-17 Flying Fortress engineer and top turret gunner from Fulton, Ky., has increased his number of combat operations against the enemy to 121 battle flights while on duty with the 390th Bomber Group of the Eighth Air Force's Third Bombardment Division.

The veteran of two theatres of war, whose record makes him one of the outstanding fliers in the Army Air Forces, has been decorated with the Distinguished Flying Cross with one Oak Leaf Cluster, and the Air Medal with seven Oak Leaf Clusters for achievement in battle.

Sgt. Gungl destroyed a Jap Zero during an engagement over Shortland Harbor, Bougainville, in 1942. Flying from a base in the New Hebrides, he aided in supporting Marine landings at Guadalcanal. Later, he flew a number of missions from Henderson Field, Guadalcanal.

During his contribution to the success of Eighth Air Force operations against Nazi Germany for the past seven months, Sgt. Gungl narrowly escaped disaster eight times while flying against targets in the Reich when his bomber limped home alone after being battered by flak.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gungl of 409 East 14th-st., Tulsa, Okla., Sgt. Gungl's veteran 390th Bomb. Group has been cited by the President for its daring and highly successful attack on key Nazi ball-bearing plants at Schweinfurt, Germany, in October 1943. The group is a unit of the Third Bombardment Division, cited by the President for its England-Africa shuttle bombing of Messerschmitt aircraft plants at Regensburg, Germany, in August 1943.

The AAF gunner's wife is Mrs. Helen M. Gungl of Fulton, and the couple's first child is expected in a few weeks.

CRUTCHFIELD HOMEMAKERS

The Crutchfield Homemakers will meet in an all day meeting on Monday, Nov. 6th with Mrs. Bryan Kearby.

We are glad to have Mrs. Fisher and Mrs. Cavender on that day to give a lesson on Caring for the Sick in the Home. This will be an interesting meeting as both nurses are well qualified for this work. All members are urged to be present and visitors are welcome.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Adam and Fallen Man" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, November 5, 1944.

The Golden Text is: "Sin shall not have dominion over you: for ye are not under the law, but under grace" (Romans 6:14).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the folio-created man in his own image, in looking from the Bible: "So God the image of God created he him; male and female created he them." (Gen. 1:27.)

WHAT'S THE DIFFERENCE?

By RUTH TAYLOR

The other day I heard a friend whose judgement I value, say "Most of our troubles, at home as well as abroad, stem from the fact that we don't like anything that is different."

Take the prosaic question of food—though as one who prides herself on her cooking, I resent the imputation that food is prosaic. We are set in our tastes by what is familiar. My little assistant can't understand my fondness for frogs legs—but doesn't see why anyone doubts that salt roe and scrambled eggs are the perfect breakfast dish. Remember the complaint of the British Tommy about caviar—"The bloody jam tastes of fish!"

So it is with people. For example, there is the famous story of the Englishman who lived in Paris for twenty years without learning a word of French—he "wasn't going to encourage them in speaking their silly language."

The poor man rails at the sins of the millionaire. The rich man looks at the poor as a weakling. Labor is suspicious of Capital. Capital fears the strength of Labor. You can carry this on indefinitely.

We are too apt to try to make ourselves big by belittling others. Instead of frankly and freely admitting that we have a lot to learn that other people might know, and remembering its correlative thought that maybe we know some things that it would do them good to learn, we shut ourselves up in a mirror lined room. We need to discard the mirrors, open the windows and see what is outside.

No group is perfect. No group has all the knowledge. This resentment of difference is not just a resentment by the majority. The minorities are just as quick to condemn or resent any difference on the part of the majority.

Let us face this problem of differences with some intelligence. None of us can know too much. None of us but who can learn from others. None of us but who has something to give in exchange.

How about it? The next time you run up against a "different" person, can't you say "Here is my opportunity." You never can tell maybe you'll teach him as much as he will teach you.

If you analyze the statement with which I started, you find it boils down to "We don't like what we don't know." In that lies the solution. Knowledge is the key to understanding. It's hard to dislike someone you know well.

Here's a strong suggestion—store a few extra pounds of onions. They are plentiful but commercial storage is short.

Man must be disappointed with the lesser things of life before he can comprehend the full value of the greater.—Bulwer-Lytton.

No one can disgrace us but ourselves.—J. G. Holland.

Between levity and cheerfulness there is a wide distinction; the mind that is most open to the former is frequently a stranger to the latter.—Blair.

Retonga Surprised Neighbors, She States

"It Seemed To Me That I Was In Distress Every Day From Indigestion," Says Well Known Resident. Can Eat Anything She Wants Now.

"The best turn I could do others suffering the same distress I did is to tell them about Retonga," declares Mrs. A. L. Whitaker, well known resident of Route 5, Knox.

ville, Tenn., in grateful public endorsement of this noted herbal

"For about three years it seemed to me I was in distress every day from indigestion. I seldom felt hungry and what little I did force myself to eat just seemed to turn to gas in my stomach. I was forced to use laxatives regularly and I felt weak, nervous and run down. Retonga is the first medicine I found that seemed to be what I needed.

"The relief Retonga gave me seems almost marvelous. I have a splendid appetite, everything seems to agree with me and give me strength, and I am again doing all of my housework. The sluggish elimination is entirely relieved. My color is splendid, too, and my neighbors are all commenting on how much better I look. Retonga is grand."

Retonga is intended to relieve distress due to Vitamin B-1 deficiency, constipation, insufficient flow of gastric juices in the stomach and loss of appetite. Accept no substitute. Retonga may be obtained at DeMyer Drug Store. adv

Let's All Stand By The Greatest American Of The Century THE CHAMPION OF THE PEOPLE

In 1920 the people were led astray by the propaganda of the Republican party; they abandoned the leadership of Woodrow Wilson, and listened to the siren song of selfishness sung by Harding, Coolidge and Hoover until they were bound hand and foot in economic slavery. Roosevelt, the Happy Warrior, came upon the scene and broke the shackles of Hooverism and-liberated the people.

In 1933, when Roosevelt took office our Nation was bankrupt

He banished fear from the people's hearts; he implanted hope in the breasts of all Americans.

He moved the control of Government from Wall Street to Washington and in so doing has become the eternal enemy of the great money powers that for ages pressed the crown of gold down upon the brow of the common man.

He saved our farm from foreclosure, our banks from closing, our business from bankruptcy.

He has enabled the farmer to hold his head up in independence and fear no mortgage holder in Kentucky or New York.

He forever banished 5c cotton.

He insures parity to all agriculture.

Franklin D. Roosevelt

He has had compassion on little children.

He has made Old Age secure.

He has given the working man an equal opportunity with others to live free from fear, to have a home, to educate his children, and to enjoy a few of the good things of life. He has made the words, "The laborer is worthy of his hire" more than idle talk.

He has fought intolerance wherever he found it.

He initiated and developed the Good Neighbor Policy among the Nations of this hemisphere.

He has dignified Manhood and Womanhood and Childhood.

He is leading us to Victory against our enemies, Germany and Japan.

He will lead us to the Victory of a Lasting Peace.

He is experienced and capable, he is whole-hearted, true-hearted, your friend and mine, and his heart beats in sympathy with common humanity.

He is the greatest leader the world has ever known.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT

HE WILL LEAD US TO VICTORY OVER THE FORCES OF HITLER, JAPAN, GREED AND SELFISHNESS AND MAKE CERTAIN THAT NEVER SHALL THE FRUITS OF VICTORY BE APPLES, RAZOR BLADES AND PENCILS SOLD BY WAR VETERANS UPON THE STREETS OF HOOVER-VILLES IN OUR LAND. THE PRESIDENT CALLS UPON YOU TO GO TO THE POLLS AND VOTE ON TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 7th.

CHEST COLDS

Act promptly, Mother, to help relieve muscular soreness or tightness, congestion and irritation in upper breathing passages, fits of coughing—due to colds. Rub on Vicks VapoRub . . . it PENETRATES to upper bronchial tubes with its special medicinal vapors, STIMULATES chest and back surfaces like a warming poultice. Often by morning most of the misery of the cold is gone! Remember—ONLY VAPORUB Gives You this special double action. It's time-tested, home-proved . . . the best-known home remedy for relieving miseries of children's colds.
